Don,
Hope you are well. I was hoping for two favors. First, I was wondering whether you could send an email to Jet Professionals (with a cc to me) letting them know that I am available and in good standing. I was going to reference that email when I contact them for a face-to-face meeting in the future to let them put a face with a name. I just want to see what the potential is for work, if there is any at all.
Secondly, Mike and I would still like to talk to you, at your convenience, in person, about all that transpired. Mike has a bunch of stuff going on and will only be able to fly up on a Saturday. Do you think that's a possibility?
Respectfully,
Mike B

Don,
Hope everything is going well for you. I received your email to Jet Professionals on my behalf. Thank-you. I have been in touch with them as they update my training and medical. I know you've been gone quite a bit lately, but Mike and I would still like an opportunity to meet with you, at your convenience. While I'm not suggesting the outcome would be any different, it seems Schube had more than a generous opportunity to spin his side while Mike and I have yet to sit down with anyone. Among my concerns is that if this had happened to any other established line Captain, much less you or Nick, I don't believe the SIC involved would walk away, not only unscathed, but promoted. It just doesn't make sense. At your convenience, Mike and I would like to come up and speak with you and put this to rest in our own minds.

Respectfully,

Mike
